Choose Apollo and you won't throw away your chances of winning

Athletes rely on consistent performance from their equipment and that's exactly what Apollo javelins provide.

Manufactured by the most experienced precision tube manufacturers in the U.K., these javelins are the product of a continuous programme of research and development. Exhaustive field trials by top javelin coaches, wind tunnel experiments and gun tests are constantly being evaluated in order to improve performance still further so that athletes can achieve better distances.

Throw after throw.

With three ranges to choose from, there's an Apollo javelin to suit every athlete. The new Aerotrainer is ideal for beginners who want to get the feel of a real javelin. For more experienced throwers, the next step up is the AeroFlo. And for top flight internationals, only the distance rated Aerodyne D.R. is good enough.

In other events too, Apollo starting blocks, relay batons, vaulting poles and jumping laths bring out the best in every athlete. So choose Apollo equipment—it's a winner everytime.

NOTES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF APPLICANTS FOR THE B.A.A.B. SENIOR COACHING AWARD

It must be stressed that the SENIOR award is given for ability to coach up to a high standard.

In order to pass the test applicants will find that it will have been necessary for them to have had considerable coaching experience. They must have the ability to detect and correct faults in the technique of athletes who are already performing up to fairly high standards.

In addition to the practical experience, it is important that applicants should have read widely on their events. The following is a list of suitable books and periodicals, although no doubt incomplete, from which a selection could profitably be made.

It is not suggested that applicants must have read all the books listed.

HISTORY OF THE BRITISH AMATEUR ATHLETIC BOARD 1932-1974

The British Amateur Athletic Board is a confederation of the eight Governing Bodies of men's and women's athletics in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland. The full constitution of the Board will be found on pages 8 - 11 of this volume.

The Amateur Athletic Association, known throughout the world as the "A.A.A.", was founded in 1880, and it was this Body which in 1913 became affiliated to the newly formed International Amateur Athletic Federation (I.A.A.F.) as "The Governing Body for Great Britain and Ireland". It was the A.A.A., with a somewhat haphazard reference to the Scottish A.A.A., which selected teams for the Olympic Games. International Matches against France, Germany and Italy were classified as "England v France" etc. Towards the end of 1931, the Scottish A.A.A. applied to the I.A.A.F. for separate affiliation to the Body. The matter was due to be considered at the I.A.A.F. Congress to be held in Los Angeles during the 1932 Olympics. The A.A.A. decided that they could hardly oppose such an application, but proposed that negotiations should be held with Scotland, and the implications fully explained to the Scottish A.A.A. The I.A.A.F. indicated that only one Body could affiliate from one country, and that Great Britain and Northern Ireland were one country under the Rules. A series of conferences with the Scottish A.A.A. resulted in proposals for a Joint International Board, and Scotland withdrew her application for separate affiliation.

The new Body, consisting of five representatives from the A.A.A., three from Scotland and two from Northern Ireland, held its first meeting on 29th October 1932. Under the constitution, the Hon. Secretary and Hon. Treasurer of the A.A.A. were to act in those capacities on the Board. Henceforth the title for International Matches was to be "Great Britain". The first match under the new title was held on 29th July 1933 against France. The powers of the new body were restricted to international matters, each of the three constituent members retaining complete domestic autonomy.

D.G.A. Lowe, the Olympic 800 metres champion in 1924 and again in 1928, was the first Honorary Secretary. He resigned in March 1938, when he was succeeded by E.J.H. Holt, subsequently Honorary Secretary of the I.A.A.F. In 1933 the Board decided not to support the first European Championships, due to take place in Turin in 1934. In 1937, the Board changed its name to the "British Amateur Athletic Board" and two representatives of the Women's A.A.A. (founded 1922) were co-opted. The Board's primary function was the promotion of international competition for athletes under the jurisdiction of the three constituent Members and women athletes in the three countries. The last pre-War Meeting of the Board took place in July 1939, the first post-War one in August 1945.

In 1947, it was decided that the Honorary Secretary and Honorary Treasurer should be elected annually by the Board itself, and in May of that year, Jack Crump succeeded "Billy" Holt as Hon. Secretary.

In 1952, the constitution of the Board was amended to provide for the nomination by the Board of a President, and H.R.H. Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, graciously consented to accept that Office. In 1959, the representation of the A.A.A. was increased from five to six, and instead of the two co-opted members from the Women's A.A.A. the recently formed British Women's Amateur Athletic Council were awarded two seats on the Board, with full voting powers except on financial matters.

In July 1962, Arthur Gold was appointed Assistant Honorary Secretary, and in January 1965, he succeeded Jack Crump as Honorary Secretary. In January 1965, too, the Board accepted a proposal that there should be power to co-opt, without voting power, "anyone whose attendance or services should be available to the Board". At this meeting it was agreed to make arrangements for the male international athletes from the two previous seasons to nominate one athlete to attend Board meetings and the female athletes likewise. In October 1965, the Board set up a Medical Advisory Committee.

In October 1966, the Board made further amendments to its constitution, providing for the holding of an Annual General Meeting at which the Chairman and Honorary Treasurer should be elected. The first Annual General Meeting took place in October 1967. The Board also added to its objects:- "To co-operate with each of the three Associations and the British Women's Amateur Athletic Council to secure, so far as practical, a uniform policy in all matters affecting athletics in the United Kingdom".

Proposals were made early in 1969, that the constitution of the Board should be fundamentally changed, and after lengthy discussions, in 1970 the present constitution was adopted, and the constituent Members now are:- "The Amateur Athletic Association, the Northern Ireland Amateur Athletic Association, the Scottish Amateur Athletic Association, the Welsh Amateur Athletic Association, the Women's Amateur Athletic Association, the Northern Ireland Women's Amateur Athletic Association, the Scottish Women's Amateur Athletic Association and the Welsh Women's Amateur Athletic Association".

The "Objects" of the Board were amended to provide that the Board was empowered to accept responsibility "for carrying out any functions which may be transferred on terms to be agreed between the Association concerned and the Board". It is under this new provision that, in 1972, after protracted negotiations, the Board accepted responsibility for coaching throughout the United Kingdom and in 1973 for publications and publicity. It is hoped and expected that further responsibilities will from time to time be undertaken.
